Somohow or Other.

Life has a burden for every man's shoulder, None may escape from its trouble and care; Miss it in youth and 'twill come when we're older, And fit us as close as the garments we wear. Sorrow comes into our lives uninvited, Robbing our heart of its treasures of song; Lovers grow cold and friendships are slighted, Yet somehow or other we worry along.

Every-day toll is an every-day blessing.

Though poverty's cottage and crust we may share;

Weak is the back on which burdens are pressing,

But stoue is the heart that is strengthened by

Somehow or other the pathway grows brighter.
Just when we mourn there was none to beliend;
Hope in the heart makes the burden seem lighter,
And somehow or other we get to the end.

Elections in Detroit.

(Free Press Reporter.)
"Are you a voter?" asked his Honor as the first man swung into place.

"Yes, sir, and I've got the worst case of colic in Detroit," was the reply.
"I can't help your colic any. You needn't come out here expecting that we keep a drugstore as well as a police court. You probably swallowed a section of stone sidewalk last night while whooping around in your drunken condition." "Judge, 'lection is most here," observed the prisoner as he rolled his eyes heavenward.

"Tuesday is the fated day," answered the Court. "Just scratch out all the proceedings in my case and let me go," pleaded the pris-oner. "I want to be round when 'lection goes off, and I'm sorry I got tight." SHE'S GOING TO TRY IT.

"Alice McCairn, what brings you to the halls of justice?" kindly asked his Honor of the only female Bijah could find in the building.

"A little trouble with the woman next door," she softly replied. "I believe you hit her on the ear with head of cabbage, didn't you?"

"I think it was that way." "Well, I can't aid and encourage neigh-borhood rows. The coming election is nothing to you, and I shall punish you." "I'm going to vote in the Sixth ward or know the reason why!" she sharply re-

He leaned back to look at her, and she went on: "I'm going to paste on slips, hurrah for my side, put out flags, work up votes, and I can't be spared."

"Wouldn't it be out of place for a woman?" he asked. "Wouldn't it be out of place for me to be behind the bars?" she replied. "Then you mean to vote?"

"I'm going to vote or pull the window down!" was her determined reply. She was cautioned and advised, and allowed to go; and Bijah rubbed his hands together and said:

"I haven't got another left,
The last has passed the wicket;
And now look out for base canards,
And vote the solid ticket."

It will be a unique piece of clothing and very pretty and comfortable, though it requires an immense amount of labor and perseverance to put it together. In it will be severance to put it together. B. Scott, of Caradoo, lost a heifer. It was on Monday she was missed, and for several days he searched for her, but she was not to be found. At last he went to a strawstack, where the cow had been in the habit of running. There he saw a hole eaten into the stack, and at once suspected his cow was in it. He went in cautiously, for it was as dark as Egypt. The passage seemed to have no end. He had gone twenty-five feet, and no cow found yet, and the passage still open. At last, at a distance of thirty feet from the mouth, he came upon the animal. She was alive and doing well on the straw, and a good warm house she had under the stack. The passage she made was a winding one, or she would have found her way out at the opposite side.

SHE SIMPLY COUNTED THEM.—"There are just exactly seven real gentlemen in this audience," observed a Chicago young lady to her escort as he came back to his seat smiling and chewing on a clove, between acts, at the opera one night this week. "How do you arrive at so definite a number?" he softly inquired as he dropped into the seat. "By simply counting them," replied she roguishly. "When the curtain dropped last time I counted all who didn't have to go out to 'see a man!'"

The young man started, hemmed, and seemed very anxious to have the next part of the evening's performance start in .--Chicago Journal.

Pittsburgh looks like the tall end of an earthquake. The curtain of smoke that hangs over the city is thicker than a London fog, and the grime upon the faces of some of the inhabitants amounts almost to bark, as Mark Twain said of the dirt upon some of the noble Arabs of the holy land.— Indianapolis Herald.

A Milwaukee paper reports "one hundred and twenty-three deaths from smallpox, of which thirty-three were fatal."

The disease must have assumed an extremely violent form if this statement is trustworthy. When, in the course of an epidemic, death becomes fatal, the commuepidemic, death becomes fatal, the community afflicted should lose no time in selecting a new board of health.

A newspaper correspondent who saw Uncle Samuel a few days ago writes that the old Governor's step is firm and elastic, and that he has gained in flesh and vigor within for beyond a doubt they have them; and for REthe year.

TO CAPITALISTS, FIDUCIARIES, AND OTHERS WHO ARE SEEKING PERMANENT AND FIRST-CLASS IN-VESTMENTS.

OF VALUABLE CARY-STREET PROPERTY ON MONDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1876,

PEREMPTORY AUCTION SALE

I am instructed by the owner to sell without LIMIT OR RESERVE, at public auction, on the premises, on MONDAY, November 13, 1876, at 1 o'clock P. M., that TRULY VALUABLE AND ADMIRABLY-LOCATED WAREHOUSE Nos. 1329 and 1391 Carystreet, now occupied by the Old Dominion Ironand Nail-Works Company, who have leased it for a term of years at the annual rent of $1,800, and who will probably become permanent tenants. It has a tront on two business-streets, and for a large whole-sale house its location cannot be equalled, being so very convenient to all points of business and the various shipping points by rail and water. The build-dings originally cost $24,000 to construct, exclusive of the cost of the ground. There are fire-proof vaults on the three floors. The cellar is rat-proof, and one of the dryest and coolest for storage in the city. The warehouse covers the entire lot—50 by 105 feet, is a first-class building, four-stories, iron and stock-brick front. It has been very recently substantially rebuilted to heavy cost: fitted with spaceous and handwarehouse covers the elaric many of 30 of the first-class building, four-stories, fron and stock-brick front. It has been very recently substantially rebuilt at a heavy cost; fitted with spacious and handsome offices on the first and second stories; gas and water throughout the building, and in all its appointments is complete and new, making it one of the strongest structures for heavy business in the city, and will not for many years need any repairs.

A further description is deemed unnecessary for so valuable a piece of property. It should command the special attention of capitalists and others seeking a good and permanent investment, being seldom that such property is offered in the market.

The title is indisputable, and the terms of sale made liberal, to be announced on the day of sale.

For further particulars apply to 103-4,8,10,11,13

COMMISSIONER'S SALE OF THE
TRACT OF LAND IN HENRICO COUNTY
CALLED "LOCUST GROVE" AT AUCTION.—
By virtue of a decree of Henrico Circuit Court, rendered on the 30th day of October, 1876, in the suit of "Steele and als vs. Camden and als," I will sell at public auction, in front of Henrico County courthouse, on MONDAY, 13th November, 1876, that being court-day, at 12 o'clock M., the TRACT OF LAND, lying in the lower end of the county of Henrico, known as "LOCUST GROVE," now in the occupancy of Mr. Joseph Camden, and containing about 222½ ACRES.

This land lies on both sides of the Richmond, York River and Chesapeake railroad, near the Chick-ahominy, and adjoins the lands of Sherwood Carter, C. Leber, and others. About one half is cleared, and the residue is in wood. The buildings are such as are usually found on a place of its size, but are out of repair. The fact of its being immediately on the railroad, makes it desirable.

TERMS: One fourth cash; balance at 6, 12, and 18 months for negotiable notes, with interest added, and title retained by the court until all the purchasemoney shall be paid.
